

News for Dermatology NPs

August 2025 eNewsletter

August is National Psoriasis Awareness Month

August is National Psoriasis Awareness Month

— a time to raise awareness of this chronic, immune-mediated condition and recognize the ongoing efforts to improve care for the millions affected. The Society of Dermatology Nurse Practitioners acknowledges the vital role dermatology nurse practitioners play in early diagnosis, patient education, and long-term management of psoriasis.

Melodie Young, MSN, A/GNP-C, FSDNP, a leading voice in dermatologic care and an SDNP Board Member, has been instrumental in advancing treatment discussions and expanding access to emerging therapies for moderate-to-severe plaque psoriasis. Her work in clinical education and her involvement in research-focused programming continue to guide best practices across the NP community.

Dr. Karan Lal, DO, MS, FAAD, also continues to elevate the conversation through his work on mechanisms of action in psoriasis therapies, including his recent session at the 2025 SDNP National Conference.

Throughout this month, SDNP encourages members to stay engaged with the latest developments in care, support their patients in managing the physical and emotional impact of psoriasis, and advocate for equitable access to treatment.

Together, we are shaping the future of psoriasis care.

Industry Updates

Arcutis' ZORYVE® (roflumilast) Topical Foam 0.3% Approved by U.S. FDA for the Treatment of Plaque Psoriasis in Adults and Adolescents Ages 12 and Older

Nearly 9 million people in the United States are living with plaque psoriasis, with over half having scalp involvement and even more presenting with the disease in other hair-bearing areas. Itch is the most burdensome symptom of psoriasis and can occur anywhere on the body, but occurs more commonly in patients with scalp disease where it is particularly challenging to manage.
